PROJECTS

AI Medical Cost Prediction System

GitHub: github.com/chandrakala/ai-medical-cost-prediction

- Designed and built an end-to-end machine learning pipeline to predict insurance premiums based on patient demographic and health data.
- Applied feature engineering, regression algorithms, and model evaluation techniques achieving high predictive accuracy.
- Deployed an interactive web application using Streamlit, enabling real-time cost estimation for end users.
- Demonstrated core ML workflow: data preprocessing, model training, cross-validation, and performance benchmarking.

Medical Report Analyzer using OCR and NLP

GitHub: github.com/chandrakala/medical-report-analyzer

- Built an intelligent healthcare document analysis system integrating Optical Character Recognition (OCR) for text extraction from scanned medical reports.
- Applied Natural Language Processing (NLP) techniques including named entity recognition and keyword extraction to automate report interpretation.
- Reduced manual review effort by providing structured, automated summaries of unstructured medical data.
- Leveraged Python libraries for end-to-end pipeline: image preprocessing, OCR, NLP analysis, and result visualization.
